September Events

Please let Sam know about any September events this week, so they can be included in next week's newsletter.

Many of us won't be going away as we usually would this year. Here are a couple of Christian festivals you might like to try from the comfort of your home. We have attended, and would recommend, both. They are very different from each other. You could even "camp" in your front room / garden (we're planning to put up our tent in the garden) [Lance & Carol]

Creationfest

8pm each Monday evening (started Monday 20th July, but you can catch up online)
Six weekly TV style shows. Talks, live stories, music

Greenbelt

An arts, faith and justice festival. They have things going on all summer. Some of what has already happened can still be accessed online.
